To whom it may concern,

I am a restaurant owner with 5 locations in the State of Washington. Greg Meinhold and his SHS Construction Co. was the general contractor on the remodel of four of the restaurants, including our latest location in Skagit County. This project was completed timely and within budget in February of this year. This was a 1.3-million-dollar remodel of the 9,500 square foot restaurant.

Greg was on the job site daily overseeing the project. He has a solid network of sub-contractors and skilled craftsmen, which kept the project moving during a time when getting subs was not always assured. The restaurant was open during the remodel which made for additional challenges, such as working odd or overnight hours and interacting with guests, which Greg and his crew did without complaint.

I would highly recommend Greg Meinhold for any construction project. He has the organizational, and managerial skills as well as being a skilled craftsman himself, to see to a successful end to any size job.
